

November 19, 2010

Manhattan House, Interior Designer, James Huniford, Elyse and Michael Newhouse, as well as Ellen and Sam Newhouse hosted a lively cocktail reception in celebration of the works of featured artists from Creative Growth and White Columns on Wednesday, November 10. The celebration brought nearly 100 artists, brokers and many more to an evening of cocktails, fine art and hors d'oeuvres from Betel. The display of eclectic art was showcased in the newly unveiled signature residence by Huniford. Creative Growth's Dan Miller, Judith Scot and Dwight Macintosh are just a few of the talented artists who came to celebrate the beauty of art. White Columns is a renowned, not-for-profit gallery, which is open to the public in New York City and the Creative Growth Art Center provides a stimulating environment for artistic instruction, gallery promotion and personal expression for adults with developmental, mental and physical disabilities. Their artwork can be found in collections and museums across the world.

Tom DiMaria, James Huniford, Ellen Newhouse and Matthew Higgs. (Jonathon Ziegler/Patrick McMullan.com)