

June 11, 2011

SECRET GARDENS OF NEW YORK CITY: Hidden Retreats You Never Knew Existed

A contemporary private garden with Hans Van de Bovenkamp sculptures

200 EAST 66TH STREET

Boasting one of the largest private gardens in New York City, Manhattan House offers a one-acre green space containing two unique Hans Van de Bovenkamp sculptures, plentiful plants, benches, and walking paths remodeled by Sasaki Associates.

The luxurious garden is encased by the glass lobby entrance of the residence, providing its residents seclusion and privacy.

Image: dbox

Pricing starts at $1.15 million for one-to-five bedroom residences available in Manhattan House.