More than 100 brokers and design enthusiasts gathered at the landmarked Manhattan House, the mid-century condominium on the Upper East Side, to celebrate the publication of interior designer Celerie Kemble's latest book, Black & White (and a little in between), which features one of her designs at Manhattan House on the cover and throughout the book. Pictured from Left to Right: Lori Klipstein, project manager, O'Connor Capital Partners; interior designer and Author Celerie Kemble; Tricia Hayes Cole, executive managing director, Corcoran Sunshine Marketing Group, the exclusive marketing and sales agent for Manhattan House; Loretta Bradbury-Shanahan, sales director of Manhattan House, Corcoran Sunshine Marketing Group

The private book signing was held in Kemble's most recent creation at Manhattan House, a three-bedroom with a separate media room that can also be used as a fourth bedroom, as well as a library and 3.5 baths.
